

This is to register support for maintaining rules of diversification in media ownership, or to at least to delay deciding on this until there has been more public debate on the issue. Trusting to large corporate interests who might obtain monopoly control over the media, should this deregulation occur, would, I feel, severely restrict my access to truthful information and limit my choices of programming and other communications resources.